Data Sources

The data was created by us taking insights from HireSmith.com.

We first inserted the data into the MSSQL Server using INSERT statements. After which, we exported the data from the SQL server management tool as a comma separated file(.csv) for each table created. We then imported the same data using the .csv format to the salesforce database using an inbuilt data loader provided by salesforce itself.( Link for data upload: <https://na85.lightning.force.com/dataImporter/dataImporter.app#> )

The screenshot shows the Salesforce Data Import Wizard interface in a web browser. The URL bar displays <https://na85.lightning.force.com/dataImporter/dataImporter.app#>. The interface has a top navigation bar with three steps: 'Choose data' (active), 'Edit mapping', and 'Start import'. Below the navigation bar, the main heading is 'Import your Data into Salesforce' with a subtext 'You can import up to 50,000 records at a time.' and a 'Help for this page' link. The main content area is divided into three sections: 'What kind of data are you importing?', 'What do you want to do?', and 'Where is your data located?'. The first section has two tabs: 'Standard objects' and 'Custom objects'. Under 'Standard objects', there is a list of objects: 'Application', 'Employer', 'JobPosting', 'JobSeeker', and 'Beneficiary', each with a right-pointing arrow. The second and third sections are empty dashed boxes. At the bottom right, there are three buttons: 'Cancel', 'Previous', and 'Next'.
